

What if I have fewer event attendees than I expected?

Before a one-time reservation starts you can update your space capacity and reduce the number of expected concurrent participants. Head to your space dashboard to review your Reservations. Select Manage next to the reservation you wish to update. Update the Space capacity and you will be partially refunded for the reduced number of guests.

If your event has already started, you can only increase your space's capacity.

We do not offer refunds after an event if the actual number of attendees is less than the forecasted numbers. If you are unsure how to estimate your number of attendees, aim low. You can always increase your space capacity during the event.
